

A TITILLATING TIME

Girls bust in for big night of fun

BUNDABERG audiences should prepare for the breast night of entertainment of the year when Emma Powell and Bev Killick bust in to the Moncrieff Theatre this March.

The pair will be bringing their critically acclaimed Busting Out show to regional Queensland for the first time when they come to Bundaberg on March 3.

Creator and star Ms Powell is promising one of the most memorable night's of entertainment the historic theatre has seen in some time.

Inspired partially from the success of David Friend and Simon Morley's Puppetry of the Penis, Busting Out will celebrate all things breast-related in the comedy cabaret.

"It's a comedy show, it's a musical, it's a cabaret," she said.

"It's full of tit-bits, tit-tricks and titillating entertainment."

After receiving rave reviews for their performances throughout Australia last year, Ms Powell said it was time to give regional Queensland a peek at their raunchy show.

"We came up to Brisbane in 2008 and we thought we should go to some of the regional areas," she said.

"We've found that with country folk, it's so down-to-earth and so grounded that they'll have a laugh at whatever.

"Whereas we found in inner-Sydney, although they liked the show, they were a bit more reserved."

Ms Powell is promising to unload her full bag of tricks in her first trip to Bundaberg.

Audiences will leave the theatre with new definitions of the words donut, the baby and vagina forever etched in their mammaries.

TITILLATING: The girls from Busting Out at the opening of the Twelfth Night Theatre

But it is the special puppet show that is proving the biggest hit.

"Everyone has a bit of fun with that," she said.

"You get all sort of silhouettes."

For more information on the show or to book tickets telephone the Moncrieff Theatre on 4152 1985.